In 2345, the Moon becomes a mining colony, as the mineral resources has become rare on Earth. Lead by Dr. Valak Sandstorm, a group of miners discovers a mine of unknown element, which they call Lunarium. Unfortunately, this element reveals to be so unstable that if a simple bunch falls down, it creates an explosion of about 15 meters diameter. A huge mining complex is set on the Moon with a research base to analyze and find a use of Lunarium. Sandstorm creates robots dedicated to excavation to avoid human danger in the mines, and an AI, Kynas, to manage them. Kynas is also used in the complex for common tasks an research.

During an extraction of Lunarium, the mine collapses and make almost half of the Moon explode. Sandstorm’s miners are trapped on the lunar base while the Moon is still exploding from the inside. Kynas is seriously damaged and the robots become out of control. As the Moon exploded, it creates violent climate changes on Earth, which becomes almost uninhabitable, either burned or frozen.
